A magazine company chose the Heritage Supply™ Highline Convertible Duffel as a gift for their employees in celebration of their 100th issue. It was important to the company that the item be sleek in appearance but feature-full and multifunctional. This convertible duffel provided the perfect mix of form and function. The duffel is great for any use and includes a shoe tunnel and multiple pockets for organization. When converted and worn as a backpack, most pockets become inaccessible from the outside, making it ideal for keeping personal belongings safe and secure while traveling. The employees loved the unique features of this modern bag and used it while commuting to work, going to the gym and for weekend trips.
