A global fitness company held their annual retreat for top sales performers and executives. When the attendees arrived at their hotel, they were excited to find the Vertex™ Fusion Packable Duffel as a room drop gift; perfect for use during their retreat. The sleek and sporty design of the duffel was exactly what the fitness company was looking for, along with dual decoration locations for promoting their brand. The unique packability of the duffel allowed attendees to conveniently store the bag inside of their suitcase when packing to return home.
